

Uniform and Dress Code Policy

Girls Global Academy's uniform and dress code aims to follow best practices, is informed by the research, and is intended to allow our school community to focus on their education. In 2018 the National Women's Law Center commissioned a report of Washington D.C. 's dress code titled: Dress Coded: Black girls, bodies, and bias in Washington D.C. Schools. Schools have overly strict dress code rules, focus on what's wrong with girls' bodies, and are based on race and sex based stereotypes. GGA strives to be different when it comes to uniforms and dress code that focus more on education, and allows girls to make choices for themselves.

GGA's uniform and dress code aims to follow best practices, is informed by the research, and is intended to allow our school community to focus on their education. In 2018 the National Women's Law Center commissioned a report of Washington D.C. 's dress code titled: Dress Coded: Black girls, bodies, and bias in Washington D.C. Schools. This report tells us that most schools have overly strict dress code rules, focus on what's wrong with girls' bodies, and are based on race and sex based stereotypes. ### GGA Uniform and Dress Code Policy

How did GGA decide on this uniform and dress code policy?

GGA's Co-founders believe that it is important to engage parents and students about what the uniform should look like at GGA. We had conversations with families and students early in the process, solicited feedback from all school community members through a survey, and finally proposed a version of this policy for enrolled parents, families, and students. Through this feedback process the policy was refined and improved and will continue to be refined as GGA grows and learns more from its families and students.

Can I as a parent (or family) limit what my student wears?

Families are encouraged to have conversations and make family based decisions on what you think is appropriate for school. Some families prefer to limit the color and types of pants, while others prioritize choice. GGA encourages families and students to talk about how clothing can impact your identity and the perception others have of you.

How will the dress code be enforced?

Students will be checked for the dress code as they enter the building and during class periods throughout the day. Students who refuse to wear school uniforms are in breach of our safety protocols, and will receive aligned consequences. See Discipline Policy for additional information.

What if I forget my uniform?

All it takes to be in uniform is a uniform top. Students who arrive out of uniform will be required to rent a uniform for a nominal fee of $4. If the rental is not returned at the end of the day, the fee will be increased to $10. The fee will be added to the student's school account balance which must be paid off by the end of the school year. Students who have unpaid balances will not receive yearbooks, report cards or transcripts. They will also not receive a class schedule for the new school year.
